

Too many corporations are corrupt!Corruption hurts America.
Most broadcast stations are big corporate marketing arms, and they bully the public, never advancing anything but their own agencies, only serving the corruption of money, not serving the public, but enslaving us with the corporate screed. This does not serve the American public's interests. The spectrum is public, and the corruption does not serve that public, only enslave. I could go on...

XM-RADIO, other satellite broadcasters, and some independents are much better serving the public, offering freedom of expression without a deep corrupt corporate agenda. More choices than any big corporate palaverous programmer can muster. More choice is freedom, and America is about freedom, not enslaving messages.

Please do not restrain services from these sources. The corruption will survive, no matter what you do, so do not enslave more by passing unnecessary laws governing our broadcasting. Allow XM and all others offer any service they can deliver, and those who seek free choice will speak.

Do not let a puppet for corporate corruptness dictate use of the public airwaves or any public spectral property.
